

Market leading Project Management and Professional Services

BENEFIT FROM OUR 30 YEARS OF EXPERIENCE

GQI provides integrated professional services to Telco network operators, empowering the delivery of major programs

GQI is a market leading provider of professional project delivery services to telco network operators across Australia, New Zealand and the Asia Pacific region.

Our integrated delivery model provides access to a highly skilled talent pool of project delivery professionals accustomed to large scale and complex transformation and technology upgrade programs. We have the experience and ability to rapidly integrate skilled personnel into your work program. We employ a services model which is flexible and scalable so that it covers all aspects of the program's lifecycle. Our service provides full control over costs, the ability to quickly ramp up or down and quality assurance of outcomes.

We provide full program lifecycle resource management:

Supply of resources to match service demand and required skill sets.

Define and specify project roles and job specs.

Document and manage the end-to-end recruitment process for all program resources.

Develop onboarding / offboarding processes for both PMO and delivery Team resources.

Facilitate and support the procurement process

Develop activity, time and resource plans for the program.

Reporting on resource utilisation versus demand.
